

Richard Steltzner purchased land in 1965 in the District that would later be named Stags Leap. He promptly planted the land to vineyards, making our vineyards the second Cabernet Sauvignon vineyards in the Stags Leap District. While managing over 400 acres throughout the Napa Valley, Steltzner's passion for winemaking grew. So in 1977 with a little of his unsold fruit he made his first vintage of Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon.

Originally the plan was to have wine to drink and share with friends and colleagues. Soon Dick realized he had too much to drink but enough to sell. In 1980, he released Steltzner Vineyards first commercial wine, finding himself both a farmer and a winemaker.

Throughout the 1990's, Richard and his wife Christine, built the current winery facility and over 18,000 square feet of underground cave used for our barrel storage. In 2002, Steltzner Vineyards marked a new milestone when joined by the second generation of the Steltzner family.

Today, Steltzner Vineyards celebrates over 40 years in the wine business. Our focus as stewards of this land is to produce world class Cabernet Sauvignon, and other unique small production wines.
